Description of the Course

Storytelling in Adult Education is a course about how to use oral storytelling and storytelling techniques in formal and non-formal adult learning. The course will be hosted and run in the beautiful Storytelling Castle Alden Biesen in Belgium, the home of the biggest international storytelling festival in Europe. It offers five days of presentations, workshops & performances.

Storytelling and narrative teaching approaches are known to help improve verbal and communication skills in the mother tongue and/or in a foreign language. It also impacts imagination, creativity, social and civic competences, values, intercultural understanding, cultural awareness and expression.

But specifically for adult education, introducing storytelling techniques offers a set of tools for inclusion. Storytelling offers bottom-up narrative art, it creates a community of co-creation, it facilitates to hear and to be heard, it lowers the threshold to art, it stimulates a constructivist meaning making process, it helps create metaphors to by-pass the unspeakable... Stories are heritage, they are gateways to heritage and to other cultures.

It helps

- to strengthen a sense of identity and community,
- to raise adults' motivation for learning
- to improve social and cultural participation of migrants, newcomers, refugees, socially deprived groups
- to stimulate the intercultural dialogue
- as a vehicle for the inter-generational dialogue

The first part of the course pays attention to the telling of stories, tackling elements such as to tell in narrative structures, to use appropriate language, to add description, dialogue, contrast, repetition; switch to different times, places, characters; play with rhythm, silence, humour, tension ... The second part offers a methodological approach for using storytelling in adult learning. Here the focus is on techniques to connect people, empower people, revive memories, develop language, translate science, unlock heritage....

The main trainer at the course will be a professional storyteller, Giovanna Conforto. Guest speakers will add specific topics to the programme.

Competences tackled

Search and find story material

(e.g. search in the library, surf on the internet, take over from others, find different versions...)

(Re)construct and adapt story material

(i.e. prepare the 'material': determine the story bones; define time, space and characters; customise stories to a given theme ...)

Master narrative and language

(e.g. tell in narrative structures, expand your vocabulary, use appropriate language, adjust language to age or target group ...)

Master oral storytelling techniques

(e.g. make a captivating start and a lasting end, build up to a climax; add description, dialogue, contrast, repetition; switch to different times, places, characters; play with rhythm, silence, humour, tension ...)

Create

(imagine, conceive, envision; concretise and realise ideas; make artistic choices; scrape, shave and polish; construct new material...)

Guide storytelling exercises and assignments

(e.g. give clear instructions; work in small logical steps, adjust level and pace; provide clear and constructive feedback; give room to repeat and improve ...)

Master applied storytelling techniques

(e.g. techniques to connect people, empower people, revive memories, develop language, translate science, unlock heritage...)

Date

July 4 – 9, 2021

Course Venue

Landcommanderij Alden Biesen
Kasteelstraat 6
3740 Bilzen
Belgium

Methodology/Didactics

Teaching/Learning approach

The main part of the course will be run through practical workshops, led by a professional storyteller, Giovanna Conforto, in group, duo or trio and will involve exercises related to the competences as presented above.

Guest speakers (e.g. a teacher trainer) will tackle theoretical and didactic topics.

Blended learning modalities

All participants (max. 15) will be linked through social media.

A preliminary on-line meeting will help the participants to know each other, to learn about expectations and home professional contexts.

A participant's profile including the home professional situation, target groups and needs will be distributed beforehand.

An on-line communication portal will provide peer communication on follow up and transfer.

On-line course material is also provided through two portals of dedicated International projects, developed by Alden Biesen: www.sheherazade.eu    www.storiesforlearning.eu

Quality Management

Evaluation strategy

The small number of participants (max. 15) will allow for a daily roundup and feedback session. Most exercises will include a form of presentation or 'performance' open to peer feedback.

The clear competence description will also allow for a clear learning outcome evaluation at the end of the course.

At the end the course will be evaluated (organisational matters & content) by the organisers in the light of a next edition.

European dimension

Storytelling in the Secondary Classroom is an international course and caters for secondary teachers from all over Europe. The course takes place in Alden Biesen, a European centre for storytelling and the seat of FEST (Federation for European Storytelling). Links with FEST and the national storytelling scene in each participant country will be highlighted.

One slot at the course will be dedicated to local (national) teaching and learning situations by the participants. To encourage further cooperation between the participants, one slot will be dedicated on how to set up a KA2 ERASMUS+ international cooperation project between schools.

Validation

Assessments methods

A self-assessment tool, based on the competences and learning outcomes descriptions will, at the start document the starting point (0 measure) of the participants.

A trainer and peer assessment, based on the same learning outcomes, at the end of the course, will document the progress of the participant.

Certification

Badges

An electronic badge, presenting the competence development of the participant will be issued after completion of the course in addition to a certificate of attendance.
